Vivicare at The Historic V

Arlington, Texas (Nov 2009) – Vivicare Health Partners has relocated its corporate headquarters to Downtown Arlington. The home health firm, led by Arlington natives Brett Brier and Cole Ballweg, will open its doors beginning November 2009 in The Historic V (255 N. Center St., Arlington). Providing nurses for “medically fragile children and adults” across the Metroplex, Vivicare’s leadership chose The V for its central location and position in revitalizing downtown. “We are thrilled to begin our business’s next phase at the same time that Downtown Arlington is beginning its next phase,” said Brier. “It is exciting to be here near the beginning.”

Built in 1927, The Historic V is the oldest commercial structure in Arlington. From the 1930s to 1960s, the building was the headquarters of Vandergriff Chevrolet. In 2008, real estate investor Gary Walker renovated and reopened the building to host office suites. Vivicare occupies what had been the auto shop. Keegan Drake, brokerage associate at SCM Real Estate Services, led negotiations.
